

The Inclusive Employment Map for Individuals with Developmental Disabilities is set to launch publicly on April 1st, 2015!

Here's your opportunity to share your passion working with others!

Whether you have a paid or unpaid work opportunity, work in a restaurant or an office, we want to hear from you!

In order to encourage and support users of the website, we are inviting self-advocates, service providers, families & friends, and employers to join us for an orientation and training session to learn how to use the map to share your story.

The details

In partnership with the UBC Centre for Inclusion and Citizenship and the SPiCE Lab at UBC Okanagan, the BC Centre for Employment Excellence will be hosting two hands-on sessions for self-advocates, employers, and service providers to demonstrate how to use the map.

These sessions will help you learn more about the purpose of the map and how to use it to share your positive employment experiences.

We are offering two sessions:

1. The first session will be in-person in downtown Vancouver
Wednesday April 8th, 2015
9:30 – 11:30 am
Location: Morris J. Wosk Boardroom – Library Square Conference Centre
350 West Georgia Street, Vancouver

If you wish to attend this workshop, please contact Karen Lai at klai@cfeebc.org by Tuesday March 31st, 2015

2. The second session will be online. You can register here:
